Sig Eps Tops In Fraternity Grade Averages

Fraternity point averages were released through the Dean of Students office and distributed Wednesday night at Interfraternity Council meeting by IFC president, Don Percy. Seven fraternities bettered their aggregate point averages over the spring semester last year.

Sigma Phi Epsilon was the high fraternity with a 2.588, while Alpha Tau Omega was second with a 2.571, followed closely by Zeta Beta Tau with a 2.531.

The fraternity averages, including active members and pledges, are as follows:

Sigma Phi Epsilon	2.588
Alpha Tau Omega	2.571
Zeta Beta Tau	2.531
Sigma Chi	2.456
Theta Chi	2.444
Phi Kappa Tau	2.429
Phi Kappa Psi	2.412

ALL FRATERNITY AVERAGES

Pi Kappa Alpha	2.387
Phi Delta Theta	2.366
Sigma Nu	2.347
Delta Tau Delta	2.335
ALL MEN'S AVERAGE	2.293
Delta Upsilon	2.270
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	2.215

ALL NON-FRATERNITY AVERAGES

Kappa Sigma	2.209
Kappa Sigma	2.196

A fraternity minimum has been set by IFC at 2.200 and under the specifications, any fraternities that do not achieve this average are subject to a warning by the Council. If these organizations do not reach the specified average the following semester, further action will be taken.

Bunn Announces Improvements

Campus facilities have been undergoing many improvements lately, and according to John W. Bunn, director of residential and plant operations, several other improvements are scheduled for the near future.

In the Administration Bldg. a new hot water system will be installed. It will mark the first time since the early twenties that the building has had hot water. A hot water converter will be placed in the basement.

The walls and ceilings of the large reading room in the Library will be repainted. However, the painters will work on small areas at a time to keep the disturbance to students at a minimum.

Other improvements will be the restoration of a service elevator in the Administration Bldg., painting of the Main Auditorium, remodeling of the kitchen in Dorm R-8, and rebuilding of the steps leading to the Natatorium.

Debaters Third In Buckeye Tourney

The University debate team tied for third place with Baldwin-Wallace College and Oberlin College in the thirteenth annual Buckeye Tournament Saturday. Thirty-six colleges and universities from Ohio, New York, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia debated in the tournament at Kent State University.

Central Michigan College took top honors in the tourney, which is one of the largest of its kind in Ohio. Second place went to John Carroll University.

The BG debaters, consisting of Roger N. Kasten, Bud Weckesser, Donald Packard, and Don W. Rector, won five first places and lost three.

Kasten and Weckesser, favoring the debate topic, won two and lost two. Rector and Packard, debating against the question, captured three firsts while losing one.

Students Ask More Voting Time, Campaigns Through Elections Poll

With the aid of Dr. Frank F. Miles, assistant professor of sociology, Robert Lauer has conducted a comprehensive study of opinions of the student body on elections, as held on campus.

Questionnaires were sent to every tenth name listed in the University Directory, primarily to determine why many students do not vote. The study also considered affiliations, class rank, and classifications of the students polled.

The survey revealed several opinions applicable to any campus election. It was taken after the Homecoming and Sadie Hawkins elections, but before Key King and Queen voting.

Dislike Voting In Nest
Of the 85 pollees, 65 said voting should be in a place other than the Nest. Seventy-three wanted voting hours extended until evening, and 72 thought candidates should campaign more to create more enthusiasm and spirit.

Eighty-one thought the preferential ballot should be eliminated, along with showing Ac cards when voting.

Fifty-one Greeks, two pledges, and 32 independents responded to the questionnaire. Fourteen were freshmen, 25 sophomores, 34 juniors, and 12 seniors. By colleges, 21 were enrolled in Liberal Arts, 29 in Business Administration, and 35 in Education.

Many Voted
Sixty-six had voted for the Homecoming Queen, 14 had not, and five did not answer. All but one of the 85 believed there should be a Homecoming Queen.

Fifty-four had voted in the Sadie Hawkins election, 24 had not, and seven did not answer. All believed there should be a Sadie Hawkins election.

The 85 were asked to mark the degrees of interest noted on the questionnaire. Only 17 said they had been interested in campus elections while the largest number, 25, had only an average interest. Fourteen were mildly interested, 12 had no opinion, nine had above average interest, and eight had no interest whatsoever.

Hours Inconvenient
Of attitudes toward campus elections, 23 said the voting place was inconvenient. That the voting hours were inconvenient was indicated by 19. Seventeen did not know the candidates, nine said the election was in the bag, nine believed pressure forced them to vote a certain way, and eight said none of the above given reasons expressed their attitude.

Asked if they cared who won the elections, 36 expressed only some interest, while 29 indicated they cared very much. Twenty cared little or not at all.

Bickel Is Accepted At California Grad School

Robert D. Bickel has recently been accepted for graduate studies at the University of California, according to John W. Darr, assistant professor of business administration.

Bickel, who is from Buffalo, N.Y., has a 3.5 average with straight A's in industrial management. He is a member of Alpha Phi Omega, Society for the Advancement of Management, and Sigma Honorary Society.

After being graduated from high school, he entered the University of Buffalo for one year and then enlisted in the Army. He entered Bowling Green State University in September of 1952.

Reasons given for whether or not there should be a Homecoming Queen or Sadie Hawkins election, were that both have become a campus tradition and should continue; queens represent our University, therefore, add to Homecoming and Sadie Hawkins week. Many considered the Homecoming Queen a treat to the alumni. Fifteen of the 85 thought the Sadie Hawkins election should be held by the fraternity which sponsors the event.

Men Only?
Suggestions included having only men students vote for the queens; 55 thought freshmen should be excluded from elections for a queen—most of those feel that only senior girls should be eligible, with a junior and sophomore as attendants; and some thought candidates for all-campus elections should campaign more.

The persons who said their interest in the elections was mild, no interest, or no opinion were primarily juniors and seniors, and the majority were independents. All with keen interest were freshmen and sophomores.

Greeks Vote Under Pressure
Most of those who said the candidates were unknown were independents. Those answering that pressure forced them to vote a certain way were members of a Greek organization.

Those who stated they cared very much about who was elected were Greeks, and were sophomores and juniors. Freshmen and seniors cared very little or not at all.

Twenty pollees said the elections are all right as they exist.

Here's The Clue To Kill The Flu

To paraphrase an old joke: "Bowling Green opened its doors, and influenza," for the flu bug has hit the campus—and how! On last Monday alone 154 cases of flu were reported at Johnston Hospital; and according to Miss Jane Igou, hospital administrator, "this is the fullest the hospital has been for two years."

Because there is only limited space for people at the hospital, many students are being sent home to care for colds and the flu, after receiving proper medicine and instructions from Dr. Dorothy B. Chamberlin, University physician.

As a preventative measure, Dr. Chamberlin has issued the following information on how to prevent a cold or the flu, and how to care for it, if you are unfortunate enough to catch it.

When you realize that you have symptoms of a cold or flu, try your best to stay away from crowds or gatherings of people. At your first opportunity, go to Johnston Hospital for medicine and advice. Above all, get at least eight hours of sleep every night. Also, cover your mouth while coughing or sneezing, and dispose of Kleenex carefully. Practice all the rules of good hygiene.

"As a final preventive measure," stated Dr. Chamberlin, "I suggest that the housing units using the bunk-type beds employ the system used by the army; whereby the person in the upper bunk sleeps with his head pointing in one direction, and the person in the lower bunk sleeps toward the opposite direction."

Famed Asian Authority To Lecture Here Feb. 24

By WAYNE COIL

Dr. George B. Cressey, professor at Syracuse University will give two lectures Thursday, Feb. 24 at Bowling Green State University. Dr. Cressey is sponsored by the geography department.

The first lecture, "China's Prospects," will be given in the Rec Hall at 2 p.m. The second, "How Strong is Russia?" will be given at 8 p.m. in the Main Aud.

Dr. George B. Cressey

Dr. Cressey has been at Syracuse University since 1931. Before coming to Syracuse, Professor Cressey taught for six years at the University of Shanghai.

China and the Soviet Union have been principal areas of interest. "No other living geographer has been so much of the great continent of Asia as Dr. Cressey," writes the New York Times. Five visits and eight years of residence in Asia have taken him from the Arctic to the Equator, and from Turkey to Japan. This includes extensive experience in interior China, Mongolia, and Siberia. Other travels have led to five continents and a total of 60 countries. These have involved 14 flights across the Atlantic and more than 1,000 hours in the air.

Dr. Cressey has received recognition from many. He received professional recognition by being president of The International Geographical Union from 1949 to 1952.

Dr. Cressey has written nine books. The latest is, "How Strong is Russia?" published this year by the Syracuse University Press. He has also written numerous professional articles and chapters in various books.

As a lecturer, Professor Cressey has spoken on international subjects before scores of university and foreign policy groups from coast to coast. In 1953 he delivered the Hill Foundation Lectures at St. Olaf College.

Students Return From Citizenship Seminars

Alphina Glenn, Bobbie Keyse, and Samuel Turner recently returned from citizenship seminars in the East.

Miss Glenn spent three days in New York studying the United Nations as part of a Methodist citizenship seminar. She had previously been in Washington with the seminar for three days to study the federal government and problems associated with it.

Miss Keyse and Turner spent several days between seminars attending a Baptist seminar in the nation's capital. This group also studied the national government and its problems.

Orchestra's First Trip To BG; Twice Chosen Nation's Best

By BILL ROGERS

Ralph Flanagan and his orchestra, one of the nation's most popular dance bands, will play for the Military Ball Friday, March 11, in the Men's Gym.

Flanagan and his famous group will furnish music for dancing from 8:30 p.m. to 12 o'clock. Vocalists Kee Largo and Johnny Amoroso will be featured by Flanagan along with The Singing Winds and Flanagan's Flatbush Five.

Flanagan

The RCA-Victor recording artist will be making his first appearance on the Bowling Green campus in playing for the Military Ball which is sponsored by the Field Artillery and Air Force ROTC units.

The noted bandleader has played for dances at various colleges and universities including Dartmouth, Holy Cross, Georgia Tech, and Ohio University.

Tops In 1950-53

In 1950 and again in 1953, disc jockeys polled by Billboard Magazine chose the Flanagan band as the top band in the country.

Flanagan has skyrocketed to fame since making his first appearance on the dance band scene in August, 1949, when Victor asked him to make a few dance band sides for them. At this time, he was staff arranger for Perry Como's Supper Club radio and television shows. His name was to be featured on the label and he would work with a studio band.

To introduce the new band, Victor released four sides, including "You're Breaking My Heart." Response to the two records was so great that Victor backed up its first offering of Flanagan music by releasing four records simultaneously, including "My Hero," "Penthouse Serenade," and "Don't Cry, Joe."

Popularity Grows

Colleges, ballrooms, theaters, and night clubs were soon requesting personal appearances by the band, not knowing that his band existed only as a name on RCA-Victor records.

Toward the end of 1949, Flanagan announced he would form his own group. March 15, 1950, the new band made its debut at the King Phillip Ballroom in Wrentham, Mass. His band attracted one of the largest crowds in New England ballroom history. By July, 1951, it had worked a total of 574 out of a possible 594 days. In its first year, it had grossed a half-million dollars and played "in person" to three million persons.

Native Ohioan

Flanagan is a native Ohioan, who at the age of eight was more interested in becoming an aviator than a musician. He was born in Lorain April 7, 1919.

After kicking around with small combos and bands around Lorain, his first break came in 1940 on his twenty-first birthday when he was hired as pianist-arranger for Sammy Kaye. In 1942, he enlisted in the Maritime Service and served four years.

Upon returning to civilian life, Flanagan worked exclusively as an arranger until being hired by Victor. Some of the name personalities for which he worked are Tony Pastor, Charlie Barnet, Tony Martin, Mindy Carson, and Perry Como.

111 Give Blood For Red Cross

The Alpha Phi Omega Blood Bank netted 111 pints last Tuesday, 39 short of the 150-pint goal set by the service fraternity. Bob Connelly, chairman of the blood bank, reported that the failure to achieve the goal was due to the large numbers of flu and cold cases on the campus.

The 111 pints collected Tuesday brought the number of pints of blood collected by Alpha Phi Omega in the last three years to 1761.

Twenty-five people were rejected from giving blood Tuesday because of colds or other illnesses.

Improvements Due In Graphic Arts—Bunn

Plans for rebuilding of the Graphic Arts and Army ROTC will be completed sometime this week, said John W. Bunn, director of residential and plant operation.

When the walls are restored they will have larger windows; new soundproof ceilings, and better lighting system.

WRA Presents Frontier Night

The Miakonda Indian Dancers from Toledo will present two half-hour shows at the Women's Recreational Association's biennial carnival, "Frontier Night," from 8-12 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 19, in the Women's Gym.

The booths, carrying out the western theme, will feature such games as Silver Dig, Lasso the Hitching Post, and Sombro Pitch, with prizes awarded the winners. Roger Phillips and his orchestra will play for round and square dancing.

There will also be a satirical museum of the old west, a western picture-taking gallery, and a full-length Hopalong Cassidy movie and a cartoon. Refreshments will be served at the Chuck Wagon and Saloon.

Along with the Miakonda dancers, local talent featured on the program will be Charlotte Koch, the Theta Chi Quartette, and the women's physical education drill team. Vince Tampio will act as master of ceremonies.

There will be no admission charge, but money from booths, picture-taking gallery, and refreshments will be used by WRA to finance clubs and intramurals.

Chairmen for committees are: Susan Mignerey, tickets; Barb DeGroff, food; Mary Jo Freshley, museum; Natalie Hessler, saloon; Eve Williams, dance; Fran Isch, floor show; Mary Pollock, publicity.

Three BG Students In Auto Crashes; Icy Roads Blamed

Icy road conditions were blamed for two auto accidents which hospitalized three Bowling Green State University students this week.

James Pope, 20, senior, and Sue Digby, 21, senior, are in Blanchard Valley Hospital, Findlay, with injuries received in a one-car accident on U.S. Rt. 224, Saturday at 4:40 p.m.

Pope suffered lacerations of the scalp, face, right arm, and leg. Miss Digby received multiple abrasions of the face and arms.

According to the State Highway Patrol Post at Findlay, the car struck an icy spot and went into a skid, knocking down 45 feet of guard rail and three posts. Then it rolled over twice and plunged over a 50-foot embankment, landing on its top. The vehicle was demolished.

Hackenburg Hurt

Herb Hackenburg, junior, was released from the Wood County Hospital yesterday. He was injured Tuesday morning when he lost control of his car and hit a utility pole in Weston. He was thrown out of the car and crashed into three mail boxes along the side of the road.

Ray Collier, Sheriff's deputy, said that Hackenburg's car hit an icy spot on the pavement, went into a spin, struck the pole, broke off two guy wires, and was demolished.

Hackenburg suffered a fractured nose, a cut lip, and a sprained back.

In Our Opinion

The Student versus Elections

Several interesting conclusions may be reached from the poll conducted on student opinion of campus elections. Many of them we have known for some time, but they are brought more clearly to mind when restated through the survey.

First of all, it is interesting to note that the elections for Key King and Queen finalists, which were conducted after this survey had been made, were held in the Rec Hall of the Administration Bldg.

The Elections Committee of Student Senate had decided to hold these elections in the Rec Hall because they had heard many unfavorable comments toward the crowded and confused conditions of the new Nest. Following the voting the committee was confronted by many students who believed voting in the Rec Hall most inconvenient, primarily because it was an out-of-the-way place. We might conclude then, that neither of these points on the campus are good enough—and they are the best we have—for our voting.

Those persons who said election hours would be more convenient if continued through the evening, brought up an idea deserving of consideration. Wednesdays, the weekday on which everything seems to be scheduled, are busy days for everyone. Practice teachers are only on campus in the evenings during weekdays. The Elections Committee might well take this advice, add a few more to their staff, and add evening voting hours. It may be more time consuming for the committee, and it would be forced to count the votes at a later time, but that's the price the committee must pay to give you the best service.

Those idealists, which included 81 of the 85 polled, who believe it is not necessary to show the Ac card when voting, should be told that many of their fellow students are not beyond what is generally called "stuffing the ballot boxes." The Ac Card is a permanent part of our lives at this University, so you might as well remember to carry it around with you at all times.

Perhaps one of the most outstanding suggestions, one that has been evident for a long time, is that we have little elections campaigning on this campus. When the Elections Committee attempted to have wide-scale campaigning in the last several years, the student body did not support it, and probably will not in the future. If it were possible that the students would enjoy such "rah-rah" doings, campaigns could be a very vital part of student life—as it has long been on other campuses.

A large portion of those polled indicated discontent with the preferential ballot system. This system has long been a problem, and the Elections Committee for several years has been concerned. There seems to be no alternative, however, as long as the freshman class outnumbers the major portion of the rest of the classes, and with fraternity and sorority prejudices being what they are.

The entire situation not only involves the elections but the general tendency of our generation to be passive. Not merely passivism toward elections, but toward almost anything which suggests that we should exert a little energy toward the well being of the whole.

This attitude, if individually we allow it to increase, will undoubtedly do us harm. If we don't soon show that we have interest in what we undertake, and show competence in that direction, elections may become another of the activities which will be taken out of our hands.

Greenberg Receives Fraternity Scholarship

The Herman S. Rosenblatt Memorial Scholarship of Zeta Beta Tau fraternity was awarded Tuesday to Brad S. Greenberg, of Toledo, a junior on this campus.

The $250 scholarship is awarded annually to a Zeta Beta Tau member, selected from the fraternity's 47 chapters throughout the country on the basis of high scholarship and outstanding leadership qualities.

The presentation was made in the University President's Office by Dean Ralph G. Harshman, in the absence of Pres. Ralph W. McDonald. Others present were Arch B. Conklin, dean of students; Henry Rappaport, principal trustee and adviser of the local ZBT chapter; Edward Thal, president of ZBT chapter; and Donald Percy, president of Interfraternity Council.

A journalism major, he is editor of the Freshman Handbook, issue editor of The B-G News, and treasurer of Delta Sigma, recognition society for men in journalism.

He is also vice president of Zeta Beta Tau, and serves on Student Court and Student Senate. He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership honor society for men, and is secretary of Phi Eta Sigma, national scholastic honorary.

Speech Majors Test Genoa School Children

The speech and hearing of grammar school children in Genoa and Oak Harbor was tested by University students Thursday, Feb. 17, according to Dr. Melvin Hyman, assistant professor of speech.

Speech and hearing therapy majors used University equipment for the survey, Dr. Hyman said. The testing was supervised by Eugene M. Batza, assistant professor of speech, and Dr. Hyman.

In March, University students will conduct a speech and hearing survey in Clyde schools. Wauseon school children will be tested in April.

Shooting Tourney Set By Matthews

David O. Matthews, intramural director, announced the program for the all-campus foul-throwing contest to be held Feb. 25 at 8 p.m. in the Men's Gym.

Rules governing the contest are as follows:

1. Entries may be individual or team basis.
2. In the preliminary trials each person will have 25 shots.
3. The 15 best of these competing in the preliminary trials will shoot another 25 in the finals.
4. In order to win as a team there must be four individuals shooting. The total high score for team members will determine the team champion.
5. A person may enter as team member or individual entry. The shots taken as a team member can be counted in the individual's contest.
6. No preliminary entry blanks need be turned in to the intramural office. Entries will be accepted at the counters' tables.

Brubeck Combo Makes Hit With Ardent Students

By EUGENE DAVIS

Playing to an audience of 800, the Dave Brubeck Quartet was enthusiastically received at its concert Wednesday night.

The quartet, which features Dave Brubeck, piano; Paul Desmond, alto sax; Bob Bates, bass; and Joe Dodge, drums, presented a wide variety of numbers. The opening selection, "I'll Never Smile Again," had a light floating quality. On the jazzier side was, "Crazy Chris," a composite of three numbers, "Christopher Columbus," "For Dancers Only," and "Royal Garden Blues." "When You're Smilin'" was easier to follow because of the familiar melody.

The treatment of "Brother, Can You Spare a Dime?" was unique in the concert. In the other numbers, the quartet accompanied one member while he improvised, usually for minutes at a time. In this version however, the improvisations were passed around frequently with no member holding the spotlight for long.

"Stardust" caused the most concern. Usually, the group would play a melody through once then gradually begin to develop it. Here the theme was so remote that the quartet's version bore almost no resemblance to the original.

Among the other numbers played were: "A Fine Romance," "These Foolish Things," "The Trolley Song," and "Stompin' for Mili."

Philippine Student To Talk In Chapel

Phil Shen, a student at Oberlin Theological Seminary, will speak in the Chapel Sunday at 6 p.m. as part of the Universal Day of Prayer for Students.

Student life and Christian problems in his native country, the Philippines, will be the subject of Mr. Shen's discussion.

The annual prayer day, co-sponsored this year by United Christian Fellowship and Lutheran Students Association, consists of the same service conducted in the same way the world over.

Following the service there will be an informal question period at the Wesley Bldg.

'Mutiny' Cancelled At Miami; Students Stage Snow Show

By PATRICIA GUTHMAN

The first integrated musical comedy ever written especially for ice and stage was presented at the University of Minnesota during its annual Sno Week.

"Ice Capers" is a two hour musical comedy written by an education major, arranged by a junior, with the script written by a freshman. The action of the performance switched back and forth from the ice to the stage. There were two lavish production numbers, both dream ballets on ice.

The cast of 200 students included 10 who hold championships for ice skating. There is also a 30-voice-chorus and a 15-piece-orchestra.

Other features of Sno Week are a one-day-trip to Mt. Telemark for skiing, a women's team snow shoe race, a dog sled race in which men took the place of sled dogs, a men's and women's barrel stave race, snow sculpture contests, and a ski meet.

A faculty member and an alumni of the University of Cincinnati have instigated the first Cincinnati Show Train. For $86.50 individuals get a roundtrip ticket to New York. Four nights at the Victoria Hotel, orchestra and mezzanine tickets to five top plays and musicals, and transportation between Grand Central Station and the hotel. The group will see, "Fanny," "Kismet," "Quadrille," "The Bad Seed," and "Anastasia."

Student Senate at Miami University is sponsoring "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" starring Paul Douglas, Steve Brodie, and Wendell Corey. That is they were until the road company canceled their trip last week. The Senate is still hoping to get the play.

This antique was in evidence at a party the fraternity held one evening. During the course of the night the lights suddenly went out. After 10 minutes of complete confusion the lights were turned on and the elk's head was gone. It was discovered the abductors had thrown the main switch.

One of the fraternity members had been slightly injured by the antlers as the elk's head left the house.

Marshall Quint Tops BG In Seesaw Battle

It was a thriller right down to the wire. That was the general opinion Monday night as the Bowling Green Falcons gave the Marshall Big Green a real battle before dropping the high-scoring tilt, 91-89.

BG held a nine point lead at halftime but lost it as Marshall began to get hot and BG couldn't get organized. The Thundering Herd tied the score with 12:50 remaining in the thrill-pack contest.

At what used to be the third quarter period, the Broncos bolted ahead 74-64 and it looked like the Falcons had lost the finesse they showed in the first half. The Big Green increased its lead to 78-68 with 11:54 remaining.

But the Falcons soared back and closed the gap. While BG got 14 points, Marshall was able to muster only seven. The score read 78-81 with the Big Green on top and 6:02 showing on the scoreboard.

The hungry Falcons scored 11 to Marshall's 10 points in the last six minutes but to no avail. The game ended with Tom Dakich trying unsuccessfully to knot the score with a desperation shot.

Marshall Takes Lead

The third quarter meant the ball game. Marshall cashed in on BG's mistakes and took the lead never to be headed again. The Falcons missed several bunny shots which could have iced the game early in the last half. But they didn't and thus the game was not theirs.

Bowling Green hit a tremendous 52% in the first half while the Thundering Herd were connecting at a respectable 36%. The Falcons potted 22 of 42 shots while Marshall hit on 16 of 44 shots.

The Falcons again outscored their opponents from the field. They caged 38 buckets to the Bronco's 34. BG's average for the night was a scintillating 48% on 38 of 79 tries. Marshall had a 46% on 34 of 72.

Jim Tucker got back in the scoring groove as he topped the local cagers with 22 points, 18 coming in the first half. "Tuck" cooled off in the second half which didn't help the Falcons any.

Dakich Stars

Tom Dakich almost single-handedly kept the Falcons in the game in the second half. His two-handed set hit with consistency for 19 points. Bill Rogers was next with 18 markers, all on field goals.

Max Chapman and Jim Reid, in addition to their fine job of rebounding, got 13 and 11 points respectively. Reid fouled out with 2:07 left. Rogers followed with 17 seconds remaining.

Marshall's sophomore ace, Cebe Price, gave the slim crowd an outstanding display of West Virginia ball as he dazzled his way to 31 points, tops for both clubs.

Slack Rebounds

Charlie Slack, the nation's lead-rebounder, grabbed 24 loose balls off the boards as well as contributing 22 points. He was below his 25.8 rebound average.

Cagers On Road To Meet 2 MAC Foes; Marshall, Ohio U.

Bowling Green's Falcons clash with Ohio University tonight in the first game of a two-game road trip which will find Coach Harold Anderson's crew playing Marshall in Huntington, W. Va., tomorrow night.

It will be the second game in six days with Marshall. Monday night Bowling Green was beaten by the fast-breaking West Virginians 91-89. Marshall will start Cebe Price and Dave Robinson at the forwards, Charlie Slack, the nation's leading rebounder, at center, and Frank Crum and Paul Underwood at the guards.

Since losing to Bowling Green Jan. 22, 77-69, OU's Bobcats have won three and lost one. Wins were over Miami, Case, and Western Reserve. Marshall handed OU an 84-73 defeat in a game played at Huntington. The Bobcats edged Miami, Mid-American Conference leader, 75-71. Ohio University has won 11 and lost 4.

Bobcat coach Jim Snyder has been changing his starting lineup with each game. Probable starters for tonight are: forwards, Larry Morrison and Dick Garrison; center, Henry Pell; and guards, Fred Moore and Harry Weinbrecht. Bob Evans, who scored 19 against the Falcons, is now scholastically ineligible.

Sophomore Fred Moore was the big gun in the first game, scoring 22 points on his long jump shots. Senior guard Bob Strawser, a starter earlier in the season, is still one of the leaders in the nation for percentage shooting on field goal tries.

Intramurals

An all-campus water polo tournament will be held Sunday afternoon Feb. 20 in the Natatorium, according to intramural director David Matthews. This is to be a double elimination tournament.

Other intramural events to be held include all-campus foul shooting, Feb. 25, and table tennis singles on March 1. Entries for table tennis are due Feb. 25.

Sophomore, Miles Has Starting Berth

The steady all-around play of Lanny Miles made Bowling Green a much better ball club. He has many fine scoring performances which have made him one of the Falcons' top scorers.

Former Findlay Great

The 6' 3" sophomore played his high school basketball at Findlay under Carl Bachman, a former great athlete at Bowling Green. In his senior year, Lanny averaged 17 points a game which was good for honorable mention.

The Findlay forward, though not a prolific scorer on last year's enough to land him all-Buckeye league honors as well as all-Ohio freshman team, set up many scoring plays and was truly one of the most valuable players.

Athlete And Scholar

Lanny, also, is a very capable student. This year, he was initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, a national honorary for students who attained a 3.5 accumulative in their freshman year. He is a speech major and very much interested in sports. He would like to be a sportscaster.

points while Paul Underwood, set-shot perfectionist, was close behind with 15.

Bowling Green had five men in the double figures and were still unable to win, so you again can see the effect of the bonus foul rule. Marshall made 23 of 33 attempts while the Falcons only meshed 13 of 20 tries.

Hoskinson Proves Size No Barrier For Athlete

By JACK BEHRENS

Four years ago, when a slim, 115-pound freshman signed up for the Bowling Green State University wrestling squad, Coach Bruce Bellard was rather pessimistic about the student's chances, especially when the prospect stated that he had no previous mat experience. This year, Tom Hoskinson has not only become one of the top Mid-American Conference wrestlers, but he has also received statewide recognition for his grappling ability.

In his first year at Bowling Green, Hoskinson was able to score only one victory against three defeats. However, he finished second in the 115-pound division in the Northeastern Ohio AAU matches held at Cleveland. During his sophomore year, Tom won three contests, while losing five and tying one. In the state AAU meet at Columbus the same year, he topped first place in the 115-pound bracket.

Last year, Hoskinson continued to improve his mat record by scoring five victories while losing three matches and tying one. During the sophomore and junior seasons, he finished third in the 123-pound division of the MAC. With the 1954-55 season nearly completed for the Falcon matmen, Hoskinson is currently leading BG grapplers with a 5-1 record.

A native of Bowling Green, Hoskinson participated in football, basketball, and track while attending Bowling Green high school. His father, Merle G. Hoskinson, was a former BG athlete during the 1920's.

After enrolling in college, Tom was hesitant about which particular sport to try due to his small stature. "I didn't think I could make good in the major sports because of my size, so I decided to tryout for wrestling. I thought maybe I would have a 50-50 chance of making the team," Hoskinson added.

Besides being a representative to the campus Interfraternity Council, Hoskinson is vice-presi-

Freshmen Meet Fostoria Tonight

Coach Dale Herbert's freshmen cagers will be trying to better their record tonight at Fostoria against the fast moving Jets. The Jets are paced by Eli Joyce, a former Falcon player.

After tonight's game the frosh have only two games remaining. They are scheduled to play Bluffton on Feb. 22 before the varsity game with Western Michigan. The squad will finish the season against Kent State at Kent on Feb. 28. To date the freshmen have won eight and lost nine.

According to Herbert 27 freshmen are being carried on the team. Leading scorer is Al Rienke, 6-ft. 6-in. center who is averaging 16 points per game. Next in line is Barney Altman, 6-ft. 1-in guard, who is averaging about 10 points per game.

Nators Beat Oberlin; Meet Kent Tomorrow

BG's swimming team racked up six first places to down Oberlin College 52-32. Don Kepler had a field day as he collected three first places. Kepler won the 50 and 100 yd. freestyle and his 2:19.1 in the 220 was .5 of a sec. off the pool record.

Paul Atkinson set a new pool record in the individual medley as he swam the 150 yds. in 1:40.0.

The Falcons will travel to Kent State tomorrow to face the Golden Flashes in another duel meet.

THE MAIL BAG

If the spirit should ever move you to write me a letter—and it's always a pleasure to hear from you—take pen and paper and address me c/o Philip Morris, 100 Park Ave., New York 17, N. Y. Or if you don't have any paper, snap open your Snap-Open pack of Philip Morris, remove the fine vintage cigarettes, turn the neat brown wrapper inside out and use it for stationery. The regular size Philip Morris pack is perfect for short notes. For longer letters use the king size pack. For chain letters and petitions, glue several packs together.

This week's column is devoted to a few of the many interesting letters that have been coming in:

SIR:

Maybe you can help me. I came up to college eight years ago. On my very first day I got into a bridge game at the Students Union. I am still in the same bridge game. I have never gone to a class, cracked a book, or paid any tuition. All I do is play bridge. To explain my long absence and keep the money coming from home, I told a harmless little lie. I said I was in medical school. This made Dad (my father) very proud. It also enabled me to keep playing bridge. We were both terribly happy.

But all good things must come to an end. Mine ended last week when I was home for spring vacation. I arrived to find that Sister (my sister) was in the hospital with an ingrown spleen. Dr. Norbert Sigafoos, the eminent ingrown spleen surgeon, was scheduled to operate, but unfortunately he was run over by a hot-food cart on the way to the scrubbing room.

"Oh, never mind," chuckled Dad (my father). "Harlow (me) will fix Sister (my sister)."

Well sir, what could I do? If I told the truth I would make a laughingstock out of Dad (my father) who had been bragging about me all over town. Also I would get yanked out of school which would be a dirty shame just when I am getting to understand the weak club bid.

There was nothing for it but to brazen it out. I got Sister (my sister) apart all right, but I must confess myself completely at a loss as to how to put her back together again. Can you suggest anything? They're getting pretty surly around here.

Harlow Protein

Dear Harlow,

Indeed I do have a solution for you—the solution that has never failed me whenever things close in: Light up a Philip Morris! Knots untie as you puff that rich vintage tobacco. Shade becomes light as you taste that mild fragrant flavor... And as you watch the pure white smoke drift lazily upward, you will know that nothing is as bad as it seems, that it is always darkest before the dawn, and that the man worthwhile is the man who can smile!

SIR:

Do you think a girl should kiss a fellow on their first date? Blanche Carbohydrate

Dear Blanche,

Not unless he is her escort.

SIR:

Here is a rather amusing coincidence that may amuse your readers.

Just off the campus where I go to school there is a lake called Lake Widgiwagan where students from time immemorial have gone fishing. Thirty years ago when my father was an undergraduate here he went fishing one day at Widgiwagan and dropped his Deke pin into the water. Though he dived for it for many weeks, he never recovered it.

Just yesterday—thirty years later, mind you—I went fishing at Widgiwagan. I caught a four pound bass. When I got the fish home and opened it up, what do you think I found inside of it? You guessed it! Two tickets to the Dempsey-Firpo fight.

Fleance Fat

Dear Fleance,

It certainly is a small world.

Publication Profiles Mrs. Platt For Combining Two Careers

Dr. Virginia Platt, associate professor of history, is profiled in the latest issue of the Journal of the American Association of University Women.

Twenty years ago, it was thought that marriage and an academic career wouldn't mix. Today, this idea is no longer true as there are many examples to the contrary. The question is not whether to get married but, instead, how to combine a marriage with a career. To gain some light into solving this problem of leading a double life the AAUW chose Mrs. Platt as one of two examples of women who have successfully worked out this question.

Careful Planning

Mrs. Platt has managed to successfully combine her professional career with the duties of a housewife and mother by careful planning and use of time.

Dr. Platt joined the University faculty in 1947. She was educated at the University of Washington, (where she was graduated at the age of 17), the University of California, Kings College of the University of London, and the State University of Iowa. She has taught at Fairmont State College, in West Virginia, Western College for Women and Miami University in Oxford, Ohio.

Dr. Platt received her doctorate after doing research on "The Trade in East Indies Commodities to the American Colonies." In 1940, she was awarded a fellowship by the AAUW to examine old merchants' letter books from Colonial days and to study early smuggling in the Colonies.

She Could And Has

Seven years ago, when Dr. Platt started to teach at Bowling Green, she faced the problem of whether she could combine a career with the running of a home and family; she decided that she could and she has.

Mrs. Platt feels that College teaching is "almost ideal for a woman with responsibilities in the home because the schedule is so flexible." She manages to have time for her children and also is able to find time for speaking to many local organizations and holding membership in seven groups.

Blade Science Editor Talks To Math Club

Ray Bruner, science editor of the Toledo Blade, spoke to 20 members of Kappa Mu Epsilon, mathematics recognition society, Wednesday, Feb. 9 on the subject "Are Mathematicians Human." The lecture was given in 140 Chemistry Bldg.

Mr. Bruner, who has a wide background in science, noted several of the misconceptions concerning mathematicians. "They are human but because of the difficulty of their field, many persons believe that only individuals with abnormal intelligence pursue mathematics."

He mentioned six-year-olds who compute higher mathematics in their heads in a matter of seconds. "Scientists theorize that perhaps a mathematical pattern exists in the human brain before birth," he said. "Educators could and should learn to motivate and develop this gift."

Joann Schroeder Edits District FTA Paper

"The Newsletter," a four-page publication of the northwest district of Future Teachers of America, is being published by the Bowling Green State University chapter this year. Editor of the paper is Joann Schroeder, president of the Bowling Green chapter. Miss Schroeder is also state secretary and holds the national office of Regional Director. Dr. John E. Gee, chairman of the department of education, is adviser for the paper.

Editions are published every two months and include all district news. Circulation of the paper covers 50 chapters in Ohio, and is sent to state officers in Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, North and South Dakota, and to the national office in Washington, D.C.

"The Newsletter" was formerly published at the University of Dayton.

Economic Director Speaks To Students

A talk by James N. Morgan, assistant program director, Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan, will be given at 4 p.m. on March 10 in the Rec. Hall, according to the department of economics. He will speak on "Consumer Debts, Assets, and Spending."

The Survey Research Center has done pioneer work in the investigation of consumer behavior on the basis of elaborate interview techniques. This talk should be of particular interest to those in the social science fields. It should also be of interest to those who wonder how economic activity is determined and if it is possible to forecast economic activity.

'55 Homecoming Plans Topic Of Alum Council

Plans for the 1955 Homecoming week end will be a main topic for discussion tomorrow at the meeting of the Bowling Green State University Alumni Council.

The group's opening session will begin at 10 a.m. in 105 Administration Bldg. A dinner at noon in the Commons will follow and the group will then return to the Administration Bldg. for the afternoon session. Robert Shelton, '29, Detroit, president of the Alumni Association, will speak at the dinner.

Other activities to be reviewed by the council include the sale of playing cards by the Alumni Association and the publishing of the Alumni Magazine.

Members of the council include the officers of the Association and the presidents of the 15 alumni clubs in various cities or sections of the United States.

Pond Site Becomes Recreation Spot For Town Skaters

Powell Pond on the University golf course will be used as a city skating pond, according to Carroll Foster, director of the city recreation department.

In cooperation with the city and the board of education, the University will provide land for the pond.

Windbreak Added

The city will build a windbreak, operate the concession stand, and hire supervisors for the pond. When weather conditions permit, skating will be allowed from 4-6 p.m. on weekdays, 10-6 p.m. Saturdays, and 1-6 p.m. Sundays.

In time, lights will be put up so the pond will be open until 10 p.m. nightly, Mr. Foster added. Then the hours will be restricted to different groups so young children, their families, and beginners will have the pond to themselves from 4-6 p.m. Older skaters and hockey players will use the pond in the evening with the possibility that hockey will be offered only during certain hours.

Special police, the men who act as guards at school crossings, will be hired by the school board and city as supervisors at the pond. They will operate the concession stand, keep the fires going, direct the parking of cars, and take care of disciplinary problems.

Maintenance Crews

City maintenance crews will be enlisted to keep snow off the ice, Mr. Foster reported, and insure good skating by spraying water on the ice when the ice becomes rough.

If interest runs high, a plan to provide music will be undertaken. The director added that the plans for operation are ready to go into effect and the pond's opening has already been cancelled once due to poor weather conditions.

Home Economics Women Occupy Furnished Practice Apartment

Not every college student has a chance to live in a modernly furnished apartment while she is attending classes. But at Bowling Green, there are girls who have just that opportunity.

Located in the Practical Arts Bldg. on the first floor, there is a practice apartment consisting of a living room, dining room, kitchen, breakfast nook, four bedrooms, and bath.

Home Ec. Majors

Three of five girls, who are majoring in home economics, live in the apartment for a period of six weeks. Miss Madge Johnson, associate professor of home economics, serves as a housemother and adviser to the girls.

Each year there are four different groups of girls who live in the apartment. They must be in either their junior or senior year of college.

Not only do the girls live in a home type atmosphere, but they learn to put into actual practice the things which they have learned in preceding years.

Duties Are Divided

The duties of the apartment are divided among the girls. Each girl has the opportunity to plan a meal, prepare a meal, clean the apartment, do a washing, and order the groceries.

While living in the apartment, the girls are faced with the financial and managerial problems of the modern home. Each group of girls plans at least one big dinner party to which faculty members are invited.

The apartment is equivalent to the home management houses that many other universities have. The University practice apartment has been in existence since 1938.

Delta Sigma Publishes Second News Review

The second issue of the Delta Sigma News Review has been published and was mailed Feb. 3, announced Stan Richmond, president of Delta Sigma.

The News Review is a newsletter printed by Delta Sigma, recognition society for men in journalism. It is sent to over 150 University journalism graduates and others who were actively interested in publications while at the University.

The News Review uses the new "Stenafax" process for the reproduction of photographs by mimeograph. It was the first campus publication to employ this process, when it published its first issue in October, 1954.

Marketing Students Plan Field Trip To Toledo

Thirteen students in Advanced Credit Management will be the guests of the Toledo Association of Credit Men at its monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the Park Lane Hotel.

Those planning to make the trip are: Thomas Asma, Robert Bierbaum, George Guttschalk, Richard Humphrey, Margaret Kasparian, Charles Leidy, Jack Leonard, LeRoy Meyer, Jean Murphy, Don Packard, Roger Stover, Charles Heigel, and James Ronnie. Lewis F. Manhart, associate professor of business administration will accompany the group.

A spaghetti dinner will be served in Newman Hall, Sunday, Feb. 20, according to Mary Bryant and Tony D'Erme, co-chairmen for the dinner sponsored by the Newman Club.

An Italian atmosphere will prevail, and 75 cents will pay for a full-course dinner including butter, rolls, coffee and dessert. Tickets will be sold in the well of the Ad Bldg. Feb. 16-20, and at the door of Newman Hall Feb. 20.

Effort Made To Save Campus Oak Trees

"Due to the lack in soil strength, the large Oak trees along Wooster St. have been slowly dying," said John W. Bunn, director of residential and plant operations.

Mr. Bunn said this has been caused by bleeding from the soil its nitrogen content. In previous years all the fallen leaves and branches have been collected and burned. This robbed the trees of its soil protection against the sun and also a large source for fertilizing the ground around the trees.

Improvements have been made to correct these errors. A large amount of nitrogen-bearing fertilizer has been placed into the soil around these trees. Last fall, as you may have noticed, the leaves were not collected and burned but instead a mulcher was used to chop the branches and leaves into small particles. These improvements will also increase the health, strength and color of the grass and will make a better looking campus.

The University has bought 22 large red maples which have been transplanted along Wooster St. south of the library and various other places on the campus.
